6-Jan-2017 06:31 7-Feb-2017 12:27 I have a simple form, where on submit, I want to save the firstname and lastname only (its not required to save full name) to the database. How can I just save the firstname and lastname to the database after the user clicks submit without pop-ups such as "Are you sure you want to continue" and other things? I just want to save firstname and lastname to the database on submit in case user only do that they may not bother to answer any other questions. There are two forms: add_comment.php and submit_comment.php When user clicks 'add comment' button, the first form appears, where user can give a comment and a word will be saved in the database and will be shown in the second form. But what is preventing me from just saving it in the database without any other form.. @Pali_Raj. Here is a snippet of code of both the form (add_comment.php): Here is a snippet of the database code: $query="INSERT INTO comments (comment, ip_address, email, name, comment) VALUES ('$comment', '$ip_address', '$email', '$name', '$comment')"; A: Keep a count in your form and when the count is zero then send the request to server. If you want to send request via AJAX way without any page refresh then use the following code: $(" #your_form_ID").submit(function(e){ e.preventDefault(); $.post("/your_serive_url_here", $
